UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

vs.

OMAR CABRERA HERNANDEZ,

Defendant.

INFORMATION

The United States Attorney charges that:

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

At all times material to this Information:

The Florida Medicaid Program

1. The Florida Medicaid Program (“Medicaid”) was a partnership between the state of Florida and the federal government that provided health care benefits to certain low-income individuals in Florida. The benefits available under Medicaid were governed by federal and state statutes and regulations. Medicaid was administered by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and the Agency for Health Care Administration (“AHCA”). Individuals who received benefits under Medicaid were commonly referred to as Medicaid “recipients.”

2. Medicaid was financed with both federal and state funds and was a “health care benefit program,” as defined by Title 18, United States Code, Section 24(b).

3. Health care providers seeking to bill Medicaid for the cost of related benefits, items, and services were required to apply for and receive a “provider number.” The provider number allowed a health care provider to submit bills, known as “claims,” to Medicaid to obtain reimbursement for the cost of health care benefits, items, and services provided to Medicaid recipients.

4. Medicaid permitted these providers to submit claim forms electronically. The health insurance claim forms required the provider to provide certain important information, including: (a) the Medicaid recipient's name and identification number; (b) the identification number of the doctor or other qualified health care provider who ordered or provided the health care benefit, item, or service that was the subject of the claim; (c) the health care benefit, item, or service that was provided or supplied to the beneficiary; (d) the billing codes for the benefit, item, or service; and (e) the date upon which the benefit, item, or service was provided to or supplied to the recipient.

5. When a claim was submitted to Medicaid, the provider certified that the contents of the form were true, correct, complete, and that the form was prepared in compliance with the laws and regulations governing the Medicaid program. The provider further certified that the services and health care items being billed were medically necessary and were in fact provided as billed.

6. Medicaid generally paid a substantial portion of the cost of the health care benefits, items, and services that were medically necessary and ordered by licensed doctors or other licensed, qualified health care providers. Payments were typically made directly to the health care provider rather than to the Medicaid recipient.

7. Medicaid reimbursed for mental health treatment including "psychosocial rehabilitation services." Psychosocial rehabilitation ("PSR") services consisted of mental health counseling in a group setting to improve a person with a mental disorder's ability to perform the activities of daily living or to improve their ability to perform a job. The mental disorders treated in this manner included depression and social anxiety disorder. Medicaid allowed providers to bill for PSR provided in a group setting.

8. Medicaid would reimburse the providers of PSR, called “community behavioral health services providers” for performing an initial mental health evaluation, developing a treatment plan, and providing up to 480 hours of PSR to a Medicaid recipient per fiscal year.

The Defendant, Related Individuals and the Related Company

9. Advanced Community Wellness Center (“Advanced Community”) was a Florida corporation, located at 20 West 49th Street, Suite A, Hialeah, Florida that purported to provide medically necessary PSR to Medicaid recipients.
